LEGO'S STORIES & THE 100 LANGUAGES

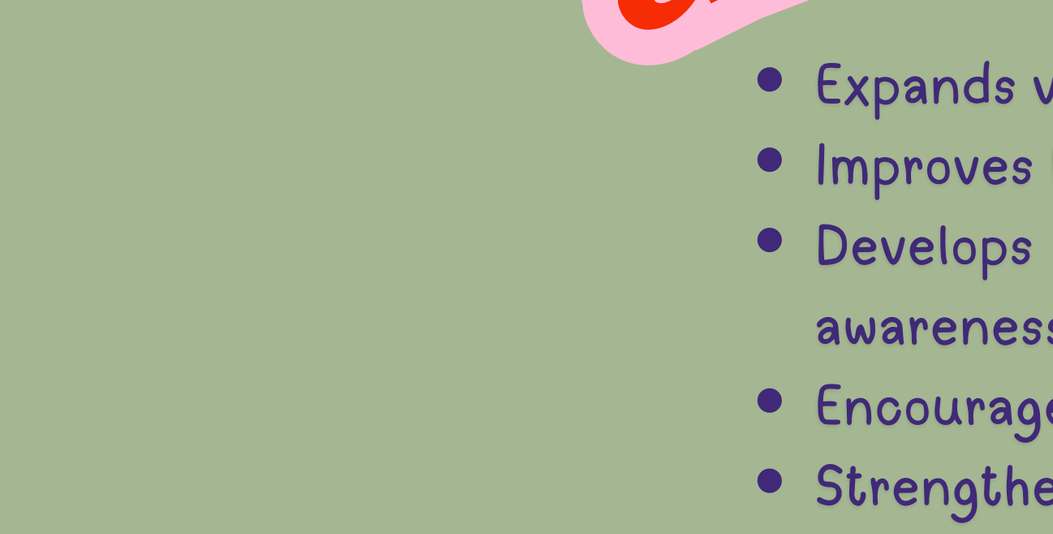

why LEGO story cards are important

"A CHILD WHO GROWS UP WITH STORIES DOESN'T JUST LEARN TO READ—THEY LEARN TO THINK, IMAGINE, EMPATHIZE, AND DREAM."

For preschool and early primary children, storytelling is especially valuable because it aligns with how young minds naturally learn: through imagination, repetition, conversation, and meaningful experiences. A single story can teach language, mathematics, science, social skills, and values—all while keeping children engaged and joyful.

The Rainbow Puddle Party

LEGO'S STORIES

In a vast green jungle lived three best friends.

Kiko the Kangaroo

Gina the Giraffe

Bobo the Elephant

LEGO'S STORIES

Every day,
they played together
near a little puddle.

Hop!
Hop!
went Kiko.

Stretch!
Stretch!
went Gina.

Splash!
Splash!
went Bobo.

Kiko could jump SO high
her ears tickled
the clouds..

Gina's neck
was so long
she could see
over the tallest
trees.

and Bobo
loved to splash
water.

LEGO'S
STORIES

One day, after the
'pitter-patter' rain,
a big rainbow appeared
above the puddle.

"Let's have a rainbow
puddle party!"

"Wow!"

"Yay,
I can't wait!"

The friends started preparing.

Gina brought
long green leaves.

Bobo carried
shiny little stones.

Kiko picked
colorful flowers.

SOON, THE PUDDLE LOOKED BEAUTIFUL.

Just then, a small
turtle walked by very slowly.

The turtle was sad.
The friends asked-
Why are you sad?

"I have nobody to play with."

"YOU CAN PLAY WITH US!" - said the friends.

LEGO'S STORIES

Bobo came forward,
hugged the turtle and said-
When we share our things
and play together,
our hearts become happy
and we smile more.

LEGO'S STORIES

REALLY???
said the turtle,
excited!!

OFCOURSE!!
We love sharing our joy
through play. Playing together makes everything more fun.

LEGO'S STORIES

The friends danced,
splashed, and laughed
together all afternoon.
The rainbow shined
brightly above them.

"This is the best party ever,
said the turtle.

LEGO'S
STORIES

MORAL:

Small acts of KINDNESS and SHARING can make someone smile big.
